

1. Who is in your Living Room?

These are the people in your life with who you spend some time around, but they may not be more than acquaintances. This can be neighbors, classmates, teammates, even family.

Is there someone – a friend, acquaintance or person – who is tracking in dirt and making life difficult for you who perhaps should NOT be in your life? What steps can you take to remove them from your life?

2. Who is in your Kitchen?

These are the people in your life with whom you are very comfortable and who have a big presence in your life.

Write down two or three common character traits of the friends who are in your kitchen. What kinds of things do you value the most in your closest friends?

Is there anyone in your kitchen who should not be?

3. Who is in your Room?

These are your closest and BEST friends and is likely only a small number of people.

What is it about these people that have earned them such trust in you?
